FHF-Houston is honored to partner with several amazing community and corporate organizations in the effort to reduce food insecurities. They include HEB, Anytickets.com, NRG, Fort Bend County Junior Services League, Stellar Bank, CVR Energy, The Joint Chinese College Alumni Associations as well as a host of families

Many families, at no fault of their own, are finding it hard to keep nutritious food on their tables, especially during the holiday season. In 2023 FHF-Houston learned that many of the families who supported this effort last year, are now struggling to keep food on their own tables. “Our target recipients are those within our community, specifically children in our local school districts and despite the high cost of food these days, I’m excited about where the effort is headed and that others share our passion to feeding those suffering economic hardships,” said Quincy Collins, Founder of Families Helping Families Houston.

Families Helping Families Houston is committed to reducing food insecurities in the Fort Bend / Houston area and families, especially in Fort Bend, have been loyal and giving partners in this effort. Only 1,500 pre-approved families will receive a weeks’ worth of food and Thanksgiving Dinner.
